Our Procedure

This is the procedure we often follow in assisting clients to learn more about us and more about the potential of Internet websites:

- Your first contact with us is usually by personal contact, referral, email or an ad.
- Next, we speak on the phone and see that there is some information we can give you to assist you in making a decision about your website.
- We set up a meeting time.
- At the meeting, you share information about your goals for your website and about the type of business you run.

- We study your needs and return with a strategy for you which includes specifics about your website, the prices and choices. (All complimentary.)
- When agreement is reached, we proceed with your consent.
